

COUNTRY IS MAKING HEADWAY IN ITS EFFORTS TO COMBAT DEPRESSION, SAYS HOOVER IN ANNUAL MESSAGE

President Says That Barring Setbacks "We Will Overcome World Influences and Will Lead the March of Prosperity As We Have Done Hitherto"—Devotes Message to Business Conditions and What Can Improve Them

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—President Hoover reported to Congress today in his annual message that the country is making headway in its efforts to combat the economic depression, and that barring unforeseen set-backs "We will overcome world influences and will lead the march of prosperity as we have always done hitherto."

The message was mainly devoted to the business situation and what can be done to improve it. More will be accomplished by co-operative action in communities themselves, he said, than by any legislative action or executive pronouncement.

Of Prohibition and its enforcement President Hoover said not a word. Presumably he left out all reference to prohibition because he is waiting for the report of the Wickersham Commission, although he did not say so. In any event, he ignored the subject completely. It marked the first time in ten years that a presidential message has not had a great deal to say about it.

The message as a whole sedulously avoided the submission of any controversial matters. Mr. Hoover wants this Congress to enact the necessary appropriation bills and adjourn in three months leaving nothing hanging in mid-air that would necessitate calling a special session. For that reason he refrained from comment or recommendation that might provoke controversy or delay in the ordinary business of the session.

In the highly controversial Muscle Shoals matter he recommended only that Congress "complete the legislation," affecting its final disposition. The Senate and House are at loggerheads on Muscle Shoals.

Two specific recommendations were made for Congressional action to assist in the business recovery and relief of unemployment.

Mr. Hoover recommended that Congress appropriate between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000 for additional Federal building in the next six months, and that a sum be set aside for the Department of Agriculture for seed and feed loans to farmers. He did not name this latter figure, but the amount is understood will be about $60,000,000.

Mr. Hoover rather exhaustively analyzed the economic situation, both at home and abroad. The depression, he said, is world wide in scope, due to over-production of basic materials, political unrest, and other causes.

The United States, he asserted, has suffered less, in proportion, than the rest of the world. There has been a general decrease of business activities in this country of from 15 to 20 per cent, as compared to 1928.

"There are many factors which give encouragement for the future," he said. "The fact we are holding from 80 to 85 per cent of our normal activities and incomes; that our major financial and industrial institutions have come through the storm unimpaired; that price levels of major commodities have remained approximately stable for some time; that a number of industries are showing signs of increasing demand; that the world at large is readjusting itself to the situation; all reflect grounds for confidence."

"We should remember that these occasions have been met many times before, that they are but temporarily, that our country today is stronger and richer in resources, in equipment and skill, than ever in its history."

The effects of the depression and the unemployment were considerably softened, the President said, by measures which the Government instituted at the outset, among these he listed the obtaining of an agreement among these he listed the obtaining of an agreement among large employers not to cut wages, the cooperative efforts of State and city governments, the

TOWNSHIP ROAD HELP $3,000,000

HARRISBURG, Dec. 2.—Payments by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways under the State reward highway construction plan in townships have passed the sum of $3,000,000 during 1930, with anticipation of additional payments during the last two months, November and December, of more than $500,000. According to Samuel Eckels, chief engineer of the department, construction was carried on at top speed in the townships during the season.

Expenditures during 1929 for the same purpose exceeded $2,000,000, making a total for 1929 and 1930 of more than $5,000,000.

Improvements financed under the State reward act include grading, drainage, surfacing and erection of bridges, scattered over several thousands of miles of township highways. In each case the improvement, under legislative decree, was financed jointly by the township and State, while in some cases the counties contributed a portion.

Asks $2,723,000 To Deepen Delaware

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Major General Lytel Brown, Chief of Engineers, requests in his annual report to Congress, for an appropriation of $2,723,000 to be used next year to continue the work of dredging a sea-going channel in the Delaware River to Trenton. Of this sum, Major General Brown seeks $173,000 to continue the work of the 20-foot channel from Philadelphia to Trenton.

Major General Brown said it was expected that the 20-foot channel will be completed to Bordentown next season.

The work remaining to be done in the Philadelphia-Trenton section includes about 3,900,000 cubic yards of dredging and the removal of ledge rock estimated at about 8,000 yards, Brown said. The total cost of work done in this section during the last fiscal year amounted to $30,420.

Major General Brown said the government now has $483,874 in unexpended funds for this project, which it is proposed to spend as follows: Dredging of 20-foot channel, under contract in force, Philadelphia to Roebeling, 1,470,000 cubic yards, $226,400; additional dredging to 20 feet under contract to be entered into, Roebeling to Bordentown, 930,000 cubic yards, $233,200; inspection and overchannel, Philadelphia to Trenton, head, $28,800; survey of the 12-foot $600; operation of Trenton tide gate and miscellaneous overhead, $360.

The $173,000 asked for the coming year, if granted by Congress, will be used as follows: Removal of 5,000 cubic yards of ledge rock below Bordentown, $135,000; inspection and overhead, $15,000; maintenance, $23,000.

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL OF HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT

Wilkinson M. E. Church, Croydon, Is Filled to Capacity

MANY FLORAL TOKENS

CROYDON, Dec. 2.—Funeral services for the late Lura Mae Waters, member of the Bristol High School freshman class, who was killed Thursday evening when struck by an automobile on the Bristol Pike at Maynes Lane, were held yesterday afternoon.

Previous to the funeral hour the home of the parents of the deceased, Edward M. and Lillian Waters, Wyoming avenue, was crowded with those who came to pay their last respects to one whom they had learned to love.

Mae was 15 years of age, a Girl Scout, high school student, member of Wilkinson Memorial M. E. Church, and a girl who was popular and highly thought of in the community.

Great banks of floral tokens bespoke the affection and esteem in which the child was held.

Sunday afternoon members of the Wilkinson Memorial Sunday School visited the Waters home and yesterday students of Mae's home room at the Bristol high school and groups of other students attended the funeral. The Class of 1934 sent a floral design as did also the school at large.

There were nearly 40 automobiles in the funeral cortege and the services were conducted by the Rev. George C. Shoe.

Six Girl Scouts were the pall bearers: Beatrice Leitz, Mamie Keith, Helen Cassile, Katherine Moran and Reta McCleary, Croydon; Edna States, Cornwells Heights.

The Waters home was filled to capacity with relatives and friends and the Wilkinson church was crowded.

Dorothy Waters, sister of the deceased, who was with Mae when the fatal accident occurred and who was struck by the same machine limped considerably as she followed the gray covered casket of her sister to the grave.

The church service was short and impressive and the Rev. Shoe spoke in the highest terms of Mae. He eulogized her as one of God's own.

Mrs. Isabella Rice sang "No Disappointment in Heaven," after those at the church had sung "Rock of Ages."

It was a touching moment in the service when members of the Sunday School class of which Mae was a member sang "I'll Be a Sunbeam." The class is known as the Sunbeam Class and Mae is said to have been one of its brightest members.

The Sunbeam Class sang again at the grave as the casket was gently lowered into its resting place.

The funeral was under the direction of George Molden, undertaker, of Bristol.

Will Stand Trial in Lehigh and Northampton Counties For Auto Thefts

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 2.—(INS)—Sigmund Walczykowski, 29, of Philadelphia, was sentenced today to from nine to 18 years in the Eastern Penitentiary, and fined $100 by President Judge Hiram H. Keller.

Sentence was imposed after the prisoner had pleaded guilty to five charges of highway robbery, occurring in a lonely section known as Lovers' Lane, Bensalem Township, during the months of August and September.

The defendant was captured September 18th when he and another youth attempted to hold-up two State troopers, mistaking the state troopers for a young couple.

Walczykowski's companion, Frank Pettaccio, was shot and killed during the attempted hold-up.

The defendant's wife and two small children were in court when sentence was imposed, and the wife collapsed.

Judge Keller complimented the troopers for the arrest made, and for thus assisting to a great extent in breaking up hold-ups in the county at that time.

James Fitzgerald, 28, of Durham Locks, was sentenced to from four to eight years in court, here, this morning, for his part in holding up the driver of an ice cream truck near Maston some weeks ago.

Two accomplices of Fitzgerald in the holdup, are now serving sentences. Paul Wessbecker, a former "Easton high school football star, is at the Huntingdon Reformatory, while Mahlon Leichter is sentenced to from 2½ to 5 years in the Bucks County prison, here.

COURT NAMES TWO PROBATION OFFICERS

Miss Gertrude Bright and Anthony Russo Appointed By the Judge

WILL SERVE FOR YEAR

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 2.—Announcement was made yesterday of the appointment of Miss L. Gertrude Bright, of Doylestown, as one of the two probation officers of Bucks county to work under the direction of the Court.

The appointment was made by President Judge Hiram H. Keller and was announced at the opening of the afternoon session yesterday. With the same appointment was announced the reappointment for another year of Anthony Russo, of Bristol, as probation officer.

The appointment of Miss Bright met with widespread approval of all persons interested in welfare work in Bucks county and especially with those connected with the work of the criminal court.

Miss Bright has for twenty-one years been an agent of The Pennsylvania Society to Protect Children from Cruelty. She will resign from that position this week to accept the appointment in Bucks county. During her twenty-one years' service with the children's society, with headquarters in Philadelphia, Miss Bright had charge of Bucks and six other counties. She is particularly well acquainted with conditions in Bucks county, and her appointment fills a long-needed service in the county.

Both defendants had served time previously, court records showed. Stayer served eight months in the Northampton county prison for larceny and was paroled on another occasion. Repyneck served nine months in the Huntingdon Reformatory for stealing. Repyneck formerly lived in Bethlehem.

Yesterday they pleaded guilty to robbing the Howard Wildonger store at Durham, stealing an automobile from Peter Sobel at Haycock Church, and stealing gasoline. The goods they stole in the store were sold to farmers in the Springfield township section.

RICHBORO MAN KILLED WHILE HUNTING

RICHBORO, Dec. 2.—Harry Richardson, aged 41, a well known resident of this community, met his death Saturday as the result of having been shot in his back while in search of deer in the vicinity of St. Petersburg, Huntingdon county.

In company with John Gill and John Rook, whose farms join that of Mr. Richardson on the Rushland road two miles north of this place; Harry Pfanner, Willow Grove; Carl Vogt, Fox Chase, and Clifford Forrest and Newtown Thomas, Mr. Richardson went to the mountains in quest of deer.

Two of the party were successful in bagging deer on Thursday and Friday. Soon after 9 o'clock Saturday morning the party started on the first drive of the day and soon after starting from the headquarters a shot was heard.

The hunters paid little attention to it, thinking that it must have been fired by a member of another party.

The drive was continued, although Mr. Richardson could not be located for the time being, it having been thought he remained in the rear for the purpose of retrieving a doe that had broken away.

However, as Mr. Richardson did not make his appearance, the members of the party began retracing their steps. About two hours after starting the drive all of the members had reported back at the lodge and when Mr. Richardson could not be found there, the members became alarmed and Messrs. Thomas and Vogt started out in search of him.

These two men first went to where the drive started and after searching for a few minutes they came upon Mr. Richardson's body lying in a clump of bushes. His gun was still clutched in his hand.

At the coroner's inquest, the belief was expressed that Mr. Richardson had died instantly, the result of having been struck by a high-powered rifle bullet which entered below the right shoulder and passed out on his left side. It was found that the bullet had pierced the man's heart. Following the inquest the body was sent to his home here.

The deceased was active in the affairs of his community, where he owned and operated the 80-acre farm on which he was born. He attended the local schools and was prominently identified with the I. O. of A. Lodge at Feastville, the Churchville Building and Loan Association and Richboro Fire Company, No. 1.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Anna Richardson; his wife, Mrs. Flora Gill Richardson; a son, George, and several nieces and nephews.

A DOLLAR DOWN

Expert surveys, giving general approval to installment selling as economically sound when properly carried on, have attracted widespread attention. They have been referred to as bull arguments in the stock market. This is unfortunate, because if there is anything that consumer credit does not need it is incitement to splurge.

These surveys do not ignore the dangers of high-pressure salesmanship, of overpersuading the consumer, or of unwise credit extension in the competitive drive for business. The fact is not dismissed that in installment selling responsibility of the buyer is given no such thorough investigation as is ordinarily exercised in producer and bank credits. But intelligently handled it is an important contribution to industrial progress, lowering costs and working for improved standards of living. Credit experts do not condone abuses of the partial-payment plan but are optimistic for their gradual elimination.

Extension of the dollar-down business, under the fierce rivalry and leadership of the automobile industry, has demonstrated the need of caution in persuading earners to over-mortgage the future. There is nothing wrong with the system but it is easy to wrong the system. Nothing should prompt those who finance sales through partial payment and bankers who supply them funds to relax vigilance of neglect precautions which the very nature of the business demands. Business and finance should avoid anything which might tend to deprive the public of the benevolence of installment buying.

SINISTER SELFISHNESS

The United States must stand upon the foundations laid by its founders if it is to endure. Local self-government was the inspiring principle of the American Revolution, and the people should oppose the tendency to drift away from that principle.

The growth of bureaucracy, the attempt of selfish interests and sections to obtain special favors from the government, the demand that the government shall go into business, the readiness of the states to sell their independence and sovereign rights for a government appropriation are all departures from the fundamental rule that made and preserved liberty in the United States.

The nation is now witnessing bold and ruthless attempts by selfish interests to gain special advantages through the Federal government. Political cabals have been formed which have for their object the granting of favors to groups and communities at the expense of the whole people.

Justice and the principle of the square deal are outraged when special interests through political manipulation succeed in raiding the public treasury. The tax-payer is robbed when his contribution is diverted to any special class or community. If the citizens of the United States could visualize the shameless selfishness that actuates such schemes they would take drastic action against the legislators who betray them by trying to force through such legislation.

Big kernels in small shells

IN ADDITION to the advertisements of the big department stores, of the grocery and hardware stores, of the millinery, clothing and shoe stores, there is another kind of advertising that is being read more and more by readers of this newspaper. That kind of advertising is the Classified Columns.

A man or woman wants a job. They read the "Help Wanted" columns and probably insert an advertisement of their own under "Positions Wanted." Employer and job seeker soon get together to the benefit of both. A man may want an automobile—possibly he cannot afford a new car, so he looks in the "Used Car" columns and finds just the car at the price he can afford to pay. Someone has lost a pocketbook, valuable papers or even a pet dog. The "Lost and Found" columns soon bring loser and finder together.

The Classified Columns are so arranged that anyone can readily find what he seeks quickly — business news, machinery and tools, household goods, horses, dogs, cats, canaries, etc. They enable you to locate what you are looking for in short order. So in reading advertising do not overlook the classified columns—the individual advertisements do not take up much room, but like the meaty nut they may contain a big kernel in a small shell—just for you.

Read the advertisements for your own good . . . classified columns as well as display advertisements

"EDDIE" CONNORS WINS
GAME FOR ELEPHANTS

Schedule for Thursday Night
Ramblers vs. Tigers
Wildcats vs. Rangers

(By T. M. Juno)

"Eddie" Connors' field-goal in the closing minute of play gave the White Elephants their second consecutive A. O. H. league victory last night on the Hibernians' floor. The Ramblers were the victims with the score being 25-23. Before the winning field goal was sunk into the net the Ramblers held a 23-21 edge. Then "Huby" Brady took a pass from "Jimmy" Lake and standing under the net twisted the ball into the rim to tie the score at 23-all. Time out was then called and after the minute's rest the teams were at it again fighting as furiously as before. There was a wild scrimmage near the basket and then suddenly one arm reached out and grabbed the ball from the air and tossed it high into the air and right into the brim of the basket for the winning field goal. The tosser was Connors.

The game was the best seen on the local court this season and kept the fans on their toes at all times.

"Ed" Connors and "Huby" Brady were the winners' best, scoring a total of 18 points between them, besides their wonderful defensive playing. However, it must be said that the rest of "Jimmy" Dolan's team devoted most of their time to the passing department of the game.

"Gene" Lawler, "Angie" McClafferty and Tom Holden were the losers' best, and exhibited some fine basketball for "Paddy" Walters' five.

The line-up:

As for foreign relations, Mr. Hoover reported them in excellent condition. He pointed with pride to the negotiation of the London Naval Treaty, which, he said, "abolished competition in the building of warships" and insured the United States of "parity with the strongest of foreign powers."

Concerning the World Court, which is likely to provoke a serious controversy and menace his plans for avoiding an extra session of the new Congress, the President said he would submit that issue to Congress in a later special message.

suffer the consequences." Judge Keller told them, "It is too bad for boys like you to get into a mess like this. The sentence should be a warning to others."

Repyneck and Stayer told Judge Keller the reason they committed the thefts was because they were out of work and needed money.

Emma Kidd, 29, of Chalfont, who pleaded guilty yesterday to abandoning one of her four children on a Doylestown doorstep because she was destitute and had no money to support her, was placed on probation for two years by Judge Keller. A prison sentence of one year that was given the woman, was suspended, and she was placed in charge of the county probation officer, Miss L. Gertrude Bright.

Jacob Meeler, of Hilltown township, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of possessing beer at his Mt. Pleasant Hotel when State Police raided it recently. Meeler was fined $250, and costs at the last term of court for the same offense. Yesterday he was sentenced to pay a fine of $300 and costs and serve 30 days in the county prison, and placed on probation for one year.

Meller was arrested on the complaint of the Chief of Police of North Wales, who informed the State Police that a resident of North Wales came home drunk some time ago and fell out of a car, fractured his skull and died. Information was given the police that the partner of the dead man said he had been to the Mt. Pleasant Hotel just before the fatal ride home.

"Your last sentence was a warning, for there was no prison sentence connected with it, but it evidently meant very little to you," Judge Keller told Meeler.

Stewart Moore, of Philadelphia, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of driving while drunk on the Lincoln Highway last July. He was fined $200 and costs.

Warren Kilmer, of Washington street, Doylestown, pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Keller to a charge of stealing six chickens belonging to Horace Broadhurst, near Hollcong. The court records show that Kilmer had been arrested twice before, once sixteen years ago for stealing chickens and the second time for driving a car while drunk.

Judge Keller sentenced Kilmer to one year in prison and then suspended sentence and placed him on probation for two years, directing him to pay back the value of the goods stolen.

Kilmer told the Court that he sold the chickens in Buckingham and then spent the money for booze.

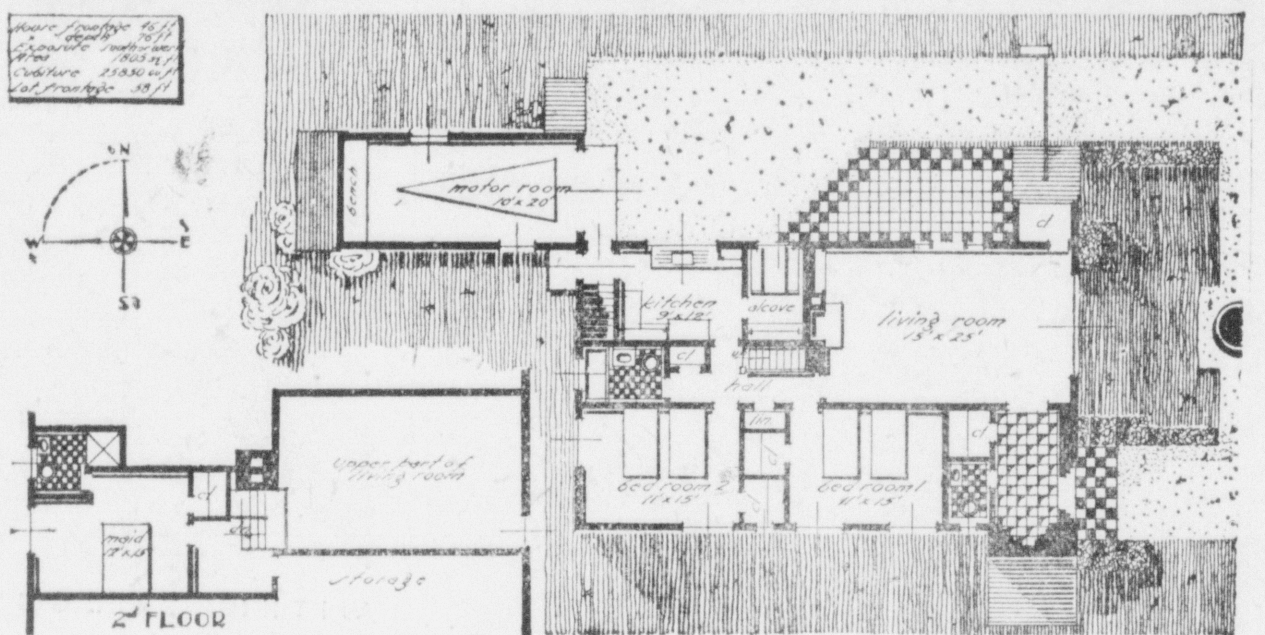

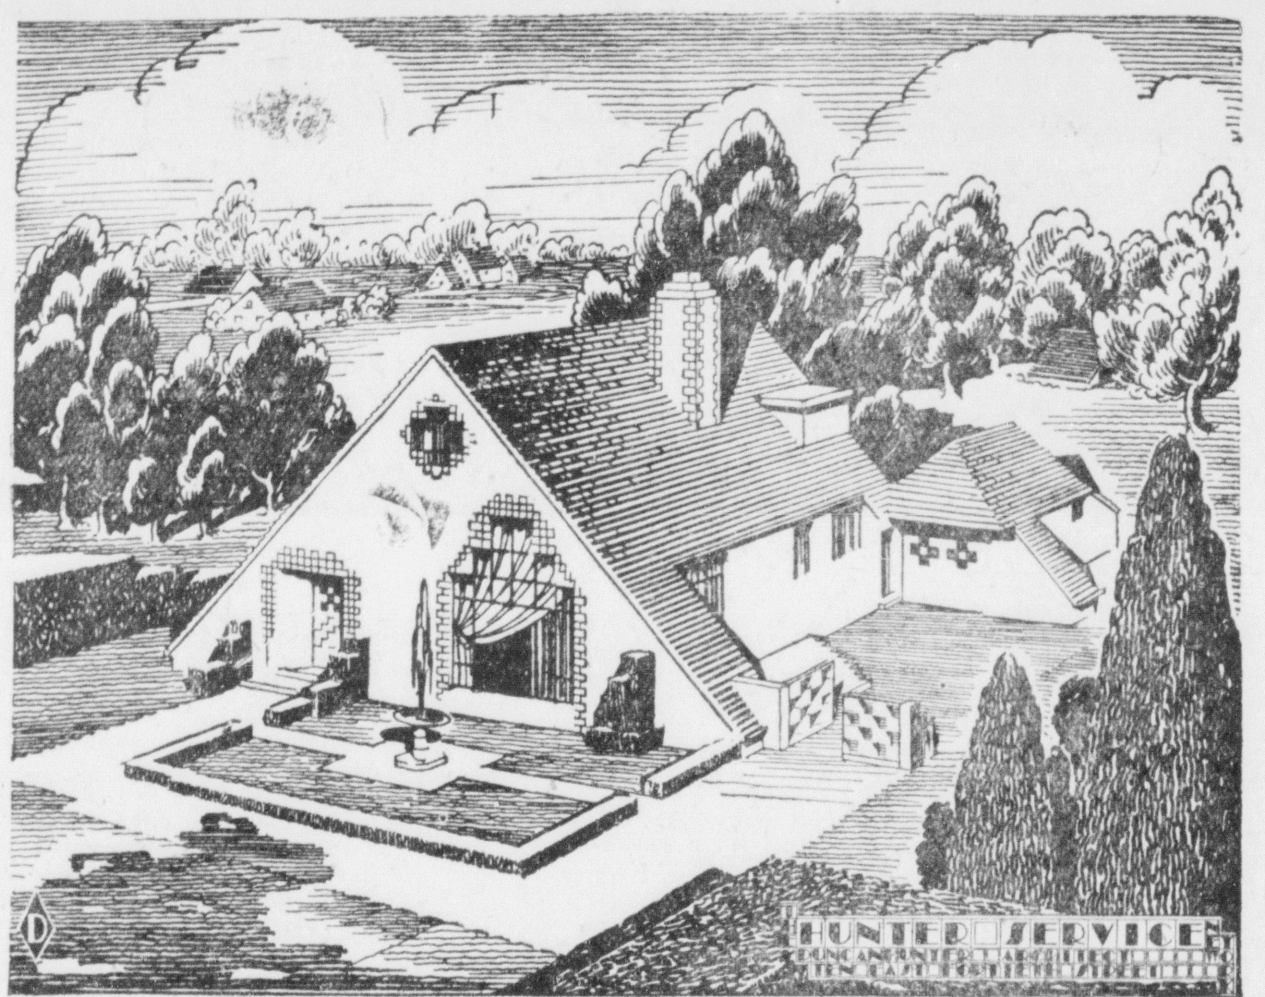

Judge Boyer yesterday directed William McKinney, of Croydon, to pay $8 toward the support of five small children. He told the court that he had been out of work but was willing to support them just as soon as he secured work. The Court gave the defendant an opportunity to get work before starting to pay the support order.

Why the Modern? Why not? Why the Antique?

Simply because a certain thing has been done for years does not mean that it must continue indefinitely. Since we are told there is nothing permanent, but change our present status in house design seems in need of change in order that it may be more permanent, but suppose we forget the rules and regulations, shelve the copy books and design a house as a house to live in? What then? Logic would say that it should be a "go".

"The Domino" as a house for a small family, with a car and perhaps a servant, offers logical living quarters. From the outside it is low lying, the sweep of the roof brings it into a sort of good fellowship with the ground and we are not yet quite so Modern that our houses do not feel better on a foundation, a tie with the ground.

The living room has a high ceiling with an expansive window in one end and the fireplace and balcony in the other. This room also serves for dining.

Cellar—(under living room and

First floor—

Second floor—

Ceiling heights—

New York City Afflicted With
An Over-Production of Noise

Noise Wrecks Human Mechanism and Lowers Efficiency of Man.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2. There is nothing quite so destructive to the human mechanism as NOISE.

Many middle-aged men drop dead every day because of NOISE.

NOISE makes people go deaf.

NOISE costs this country a loss of $5,000 a week.

NOISE lowers efficiency by 10 per cent.

These are the findings of experts who have for the past three years been studying Noise and the effect of NOISE on human beings and human progress.

The NOISE nuisance got so bad in New York City that a Noise Abatement Commission was appointed. Recently this organization issued a booklet which sets forth the existing laws against noise.

Few perhaps are aware that it is against the law to keep an animal or bird that disturbs the quiet of the neighbors.

New York subways in an effort to eliminate noise have tried noiseless turnstiles in several of their stations.

The use of whistles by New York City policemen when directing traffic has been prohibited. Radio dealers to got together and abolished the outdoor loud speaker.

But to a visitor to New York there doesn't seem to be any lessening in the awful din. Automobile horns continue to hoot irritably. The screaming grind of the riveters mingles with the roar of the Elevated trains.

But New York City is not the only city afflicted with an over-production of noise.

The bane of London is her cats. There the nights are made unbearable by the howling of the felines. For London's cats are so well treated that they don't have to hunt for mice. Perhaps the strangest caterers in the world are London's cat meat men. They are to be seen in the side streets pushing carts laden with horse meat to feed the hungry cats.

London is experimenting with rubber pavements and these eliminated practically all the noise of horse-drawn vehicles. But there are many parts of London where it is just as noisy as New York.

Last year the bedlam of London at night drove a former vaudeville star to murder her daughter, 18, and take her own life. She left a letter which said in part:

"I have been murdered soul and brain by noise, noise all through the day and night. I tried drugging myself at night, but it was no use."

The most outlandish noise in Paris is the tooting of the taxi-cab horns. It is a debatable question whether Paris taxi-cab horns do not kill more people than they save.

If you are looking for peace and quiet go to Venice. There are no traffic noises there, only the soft lush of the blue water and the song of the gondolier.

But in Constantinople special watchmen can be heard pounding the pavements and announcing in loud voices that all is well.

An interesting comparison can be made in the above pictures between 5th Avenue, and 42nd Street, in the City of New York, where children play on the grassy slopes in a picture taken 100 years ago and that busiest thoroughfare in the world today, and also the artist's conception of the Great City of New York in 1950, or 20 years from now.
